

Mattee Jim is of the Zuni People Clan and born for the Towering House people clan, this is how she identifies as a Dineh (Navajo). Mattee has been active in the HIV Prevention field for the past 18 years, she has presented at several Conferences such as the International AIDS Conference 2012, United States Conference on AIDS, and the National HIV Prevention Conference, and many more to list. Mattee has also been doing Transgender Advocacy since the late 90's and has done it on the local, state and national level. Mattee currently is employed with First Nations Community HealthSource as a Supervisor for HIV Prevention Programs. She is also a decision making member and Community Co Chair for the New Mexico Community Planning and Action Group which addresses HIV Prevention within the State of New Mexico, Board Member Emeritus for Transgender Resource Center of New Mexico, Planning Committee Member for Circle of Harmony, member of the Native LGBTQ2S Advisory Council for SWIWC, Member of the National Transgender Coalition for Transgender Law Center, Transgender Advocate, Trainer, Consultant, and Extraordinary Person. Mattee's Journey has been a Blessed one since she started her sobriety several years ago.